American Journal of Medical and Clinical Research & Reviews

REVISION CONSTITUICIONAL THE CONSTITUTION OF DEMOCRATIC THE REPUBLIC IN TIMOR-LESTE

Alexandre Gentil Corte-Real de Araújo, Cristóvão dos Reis, Urraca Magno de Corte Real Araújo, Simão Lamberto F. Soares, Artur Natalino Corte Real Araújo, Carlos Boavida Tilman

> Correspondence:* Alexandre Gentil Corte-Real de Araújo

Received: 25 Feb 2023; Accepted: 28 Feb 2023; Published: 05 Mar 2023

Citation: Alexandre Gentil Corte-Real de Araújo. REVISION CONSTITUICIONAL THE CONSTITUTION OF DEMOCRATIC THE REPUBLIC IN TIMOR-LESTE. AJMCRR 2023; 2(3): 1-6.

ABASTRACT

Introduction: The Constitutional review clause in Timor-Leste is considered a very pertinent matter on the grounds that we have not yet made any Contituicional revision since the validity of the first legislature to date, historically what happens is only transition of contição. The Constitutional review means, the power to change and partially modify the text of the Constitution by the competent legislature, which is the National Parliament, and has established by fundamental principles and rules, which is provided for in Articles 154 to 157 of the CRDTL.

Objectivess: It is to contribute to a debate on the issue of the Contitutional Review in Timor-Leste and to eatthe constitutional review, use, the legal means, which aim to ensure the Contição in harmony.

Method: We use inductive metedology, where the study is based on the consultation of reference books in the library, and in this elaboration the Internet is also used as an auxiliary means.

Discussion: Precisa of serious application to can ensure the Constitution safely. We know that the Constitution is a rule that is responsible for the entire legal order of a State and it has the original power.

Conclusion: The limits of the Constitution Review and the latter focuses on the Legal Framework and the Process of the Contitutional Review in Timor-Leste, is a very fundamental and need some National consensus of political good will be cited by (Corte Real AG & Tilman CB, 2023).

Keyword: Constitutional Review, Legal Framework, Legal System.

INTRODUCTION

Constitutional Law is the branch of Public Law that studies the phenomenon of Contitutional as the supreme norm of the State. This is the first characteristic of Contitutional Law that occupies within the Legal Budget, also called "higher norm" meaning Major Law, or, we can say Mother Law because hierarchically it is based at the top of the each existing State Body, this translates into the idea of not violate the limits and esseniais requirements that are the state needto propose or base its power by control in prophesied in the Constitution. Otherwise, it is concluded correspondence or foundation of contition. Hence, it can that it is completely unequal to the question of change or relate the Contitutional right with the other branches of transformation of the Constitution that caused the new law that can be Intense and Extensive. It is intense, be- appearance of the Constitution. Example: The French tween Constitutional Law and the various branches of revolution caused the birth of the new system. public law, while extensive relations are between contiprovided for by law and application is real conditions tion, in case it does not reach then, therefore, it is inconcited by (Corte Real AG & Tilman CB, 2023).

into the possibility of changing the constitutional order ed by (Corte Real AG & Tilman CB, 2023). originally established, but only with a secondary nature, because it is limited, either depending on the fundamen- The objective is to contribute to a debate on the issue of tal options that characterize the draft law that is in hand, the Contitutional Review in Timor-Leste and the constior in accordance with the strict legislative procedure es- tutional review, use, the legal means, which aim to entablished for its production. In this sense, the constitu- sure the Constitution in harmony. tional revision results or is based on the constituted power that comes from the constituent power, in this way is THEORITICAL ENQUDRATION not confused, and the Constitutional revision does not The power of the French Revolution caused the breakconsidered free or outside the limits in the Constitution, democratic republic, which was called modern continen-

Legal Budget of a country that also defines the statute of that is, the Constitution revision will be possible if it does tutional law and the private law branch. In view of this, As we have already said, the power of constitutional revi-Constitutional Law has its object and study in The Con- sion, in turn, is defined as the power to revise or modify stitution, which, it has different meanings, which are: the Constitution, translating into the legal faculty that Formal Sense. The Constitution in the Formal sense is a allows the amendment of the written Constitution, which written document that does not only enshrine norms that exclisively falls to the national parliament, according to regulate the production of general norms, but also norms article 1 154 of the CRDTL, contrary to what happens that refer to other politically relevant issues. In the Mate- with the power of legislative initiative, article 97 of the rial Sense, contitutional has as the positive norm by CRDTL, in which it authorizes the Government to legiswhich the production of formal legal norms is regulated late proposals of the law. However, as ZAGBREBELSKI and values other written standards with Contitutional val- states, the power of constitutional revision is based on the ue in relation to the catalog of Fundamental Law in Arti- Constitution itself", this has a sense that the complitude cle 23 of the CRDTL. It clearly does not exclude others of the process should have the likeness of the Constitutitucional. It is different from the constituent power; the power of constitutional revision is a power by that orga-Constitutional Revision consists in the amendment and nized and subordinate. It is, therefore, a legal power with partial modification of the text of the Constitution by the a subordinate character because it is unlimited by the competent legislator who is the National Parliament this Constitution itself, and is also derived because the origiform it is presumed that " The Constitutional Revision, nal constituent power takes away its political force within through the corresponding power of revision, translates the same constitutional legal system implementation cit-encompass the whole matter, but only matters that are down of Monarchical Absolutism where it gave rise to a tal contitucionalism. It is, therefore, around the revolu- irrelevant for the logislador to use the material limits tions, that the first discussions begin to emerge about the clause to for example, draw up a Law or decree law that thus, the first bases of the science of constitutional law is necessary to analyze and realize the meaning of each emerged. The thesis of the constituent power, say John of the material limits currently confined to the same arti-Locke Jean-Jacques Rousseu: " for John Locke, the peo- cle referred to above, and to which the review must be ple would be the holder of the supreme power; for Jean- clear. The first limit, listed in point (a), is national inde-Jacques Rousseu, more radically, the general will of the pendence and state unity. This means that national indepower", this for since the ownership of the contituinte liberation movements which since Article 1 of the power should belong to the majority of the people and CRDTL is guaranteed. The raison d'état of the constitupolitics that concluded the social pact, and not to an indi- ent process that led to the adoption of this Constitution is vidual or group. Power resides in the people; this is what stated in Article 1 of the CRDTL, which affirms the uniis called democracy that is born in itself the rule of law. tary character of the State. This is the case in Article 74, In the sense of popular will, the majority decision pre- which defines the functions of the PR, as guarantor of the vails over is of the minority. The contituinte power is an independence and unity of the State and in accordance original power that has the strength to draft the Constitu- with the Oath of the President of the Republic, in paration, can not today be seen as an absolute power, and graph 2. 3 of art. 77°. The second limit, in point (b), the therefore has no limit. In fact, the constituent power, rights, freedoms and guarantees of citizens. This part coeven if it is a supreme power, is materially limited in the incides in part II of the CRDTL, it is more appropriate to face of the option for a democratic political organization, interpret this point in a broad sense, but we must respect based on the Democratic rule of law of western matrix. all articles applied in the RDTL Constitution actual cited Consequently, the contituinte power must respect the by (Corte Real AG & Tilman CB, 2023). normative values that cannot be dispensed with, that is, On the other hand, these clauses are therefore understood which has normative prestige, with this influence the au- to be "express or implicit and tacit". It is implicitly exthor Jorge Miranda distinguishes between " Transcend- pressed the material limits which are expressly laid down ent, immanent and in certain cases heteronomous" in the in the Constitution which have respect for fundamental implementation and practice use cited by (Corte Real AG constitutional principles. What is being referred to in Art. & Tilman CB, 2023).

is necessary to ensure stability and to allow the constitu- those that are deduced from the constitutional text itself. tion to function and ensure its normative force in the face And it is tacit, it also guarantees the rights and principles of the constitutional changes and vicissitudes that the that are not provided for in the Constitution but have the Constitution suffers over time effectively, but only the value of the Constitution. The Timorese Constitution rules of character of positive law i.e. rules which may be does not carry out an electing that respects the order modified or repealed by the legislature. The main func- listed in the epigraph. Thus, we find rights, freedom and tion of the limits of the revision in general, is to ensure guarantees organized in a problematic way and not obeythat within the scope of its function is valid. And it is ing the sequence of rights, then freedoms at last, guaranconcepts of contituinte power and contituded powers, deals with the law of the sea, among others. Therefore, it majority would be the exlusive holder of the constituent pendence is a designation of the historical tradition of 156 of the CRDTL. Therefore, according to Constitution, material limits can be "express or textual limits are the We have already seen that the full Constitutional Review limits provided for in the constitutional text itself"; are tees. Otherwise, this measure of the State has an obligation or duty to ensure that each person can enjoy the ex- Now, let's see, the body exclusively competent to apercise of his right, freedom and guarantee without the prove the Constitutional Review Laws is the National interference of third parties, in particular, through legis- Parliament, which is why, in Timor-Leste, we have a lative intervention and in some cases, the executive simple representative model of constitutional revision. measure, e.g., the application of the State so Site or State Such a body is vested in ordinary powers of constitutionrestriction of rights, freedoms and guarantees will only 154 of the CRDTL, the requirement of a minimum peribe constitutionally legitimate if it is motivated by the od of six years still means that no legislature can carry need to safeguard other constitutionally protected rights out more than one constitutional revision, since each legor interests, according to Article 24 of CRDTL, it is a islature has a normal duration of five years. However, fundamental theoretical framework of the revision of the crdtl accepts an exception to that rule, providing for the constitution of Timor-Leste have and application cited by possibility of carrying out an extraordinary review, with-(Corte Real AG & Tilman CB, 2023).

REVIEW OF LITERATURE

cation of the constitutional revision: it is the intention of quires an act of initiative, which is reflected in the the revision and the exercise of the power of constitu- presentation of a draft revision and is exclusive to he National revision. The first requirement shows us that the tional Parliament (individual or collective), according to revision is an international act that requires for its perfec- paragraph 1 art. 154 of the CRDTL, and not to the Govtion that the agent has wanted not only the rules, but also ernment because it is different from what happens with the legal review of it, so we must also express or demon- the legislative initiative, article 97 of the CRDTL in strate the intention of constitutional revision, so it does which the government can submit a bill for law, with not allow unexpressed revisions in which it is not explic- regard to the constitutional review process, the initiative itly clarified. In addition to the intention of the constitu- is exclusive to the parliamentary body. tional revision, we can effectively affirm the validity and effectiveness of a given constitutional revision, we have While the time requirement notes that the constitutional to assess whether all the formal and material assumptions revision may appeal in the course of six years (in the prescribed by the constituent power have been fulfilled. context of the ordinary review both in the extraordinary Before this, in Timor-Leste the rules that specifically review), therefore, it does not automatically determine regulate or deal with the act of constitutional revision, the opening of the procedure but with a view to strengththat is, the legal procedures for the revision of the ening the relative reserve of the National Parliament to Timorese Constitutional are included from Title II of make the Constitutional revision, so it does not seem per-Article 154 to 157 of the CRDTL. It is important for us missible for the President of the Republic and other bodto know that the Timorese Constitution is strict, through ies to be empowered to order Parliament for review purthe limits we have already studied. Because it prescribes poses. Just like the one you say about no. 2 of Art. 155 a specific and rigorous process for changing its rules, it is of the CRDTL, establishes that the publication of the important to know it.

of Emergency, art. 25° of the CRDTL. After this, the al revision, in accordance with paragraph 2 of Article out any time limits, if such a procedure is initiated by four fifths of the Members in effect of functions, in accordance with paragraph 4 of Article 154 of the CRDTL. In view of this we have two requirements for the qualifi- The opening of the ordinary review process always re-revision law must be accompanied by the publication of fact that the 2002 Constitution represents the first consti- and the fact that the 2002 constitution represents the first tution of Timor-Leste. We know that the constitution of constitution of Timor-Leste, composed of 170 articles. the Democratic Republic of Timor-Leste entered into Since the 2002 Constitution is the result of the original force on May 20, 2002, provided for in Art. 170 of the constituent power, the applicability of the act of the con-CRDTL. However, before that we have the historical- stitutional revision of Article 154 of art. 154 of the but it is understood, this periodification has the merit of is the law originating from the constitution. With this, Leste. Thus, the "historical-political intinerary of Timor- 2002 Constitution, but in reality what happens is that to Leste borders the following phases of evolution of the date, no constitutional revision has yet been elaborated Constitution: phase of the Portuguese colonial occupa- in Timor-Leste. This situation gives us a question and tion, the phase of the Indonesian occupation the phase of critical reasoning that it is possible or not, is important or transition by the United Nations and the phase of defini- not and is relevant or not, for timorese citizens and legistive independence". For this fundamental reason that we lators to this elements and constitutional revision act. have to make the situation of jury of national consensus and political strength of the National Parliament to have In my view the answer can be negative and positive. It is constitutional revision, which exists cited by (Corte Real negative because in Timor-Leste we lack resources, that & Tilman CB, 2023).

METHODOLOGICAL

This investigation is a search of bibliographic refer- needs. In view of this, we know that the Timorese conencess. Throughout the research and documentary analy- stitution of 2002, mostly, is adapted from the Portuguese sis of knowledge of science and argumentative both le- constitution and other cplp countries. Therefore, we must gal and literary.

RESULT OF DISCUSSION

Timor-Leste is a Democratic Rule of Law that restored of constitutional revision. For all this we must invest in its Independence on 20 May 2002, provided for in art. this area (Constitutional Law), in advance so that in the 170° of the CRDTL. On the same day, May 20, 2002, future there will be no difficulties in these situations the Constituent Assembly also becomes a National Par- mentioned. Elsewhere, the answer can be positive when liament, according to article 167 of the CRDTL. Mean- the National Parliament, which has legislative power and while, the process for the development of the 2002 is an exclusive power, in the light of constitutional revi-CRDTL was based on a representative procedure, in sion. With the initiative of one of the Deputies or parliawhich Timorese citizens would elect the representatives mentary benches to make constitutional revision providon whom the responsibility of drafting and proving the ed that it respects the material limits listed in the Consticonstitution by "88 members of the Constituent Assem- tution, it is therefore considered valid and takes effect. bly were elected among twelve of the sixteen political Thus, the negative theory that we approach the last priorparties, of which twenty-four of the 88 members were ity, which does be support the matter of discussion in the new constitutional text. Historic Timorese and the women". In vertude of the Timorese historical reality political evolution of the Constitution of Timor-Leste, CRDTL is considered, by interpretative means, when it understanding the birth of the Constitution of Timor- since May 20, 2008 it is already possible to revise the > is, the people who are expert in this area, we must have these types of people to be qualified, rigorous in the precious requirements that an act of constitutional revision take into mind, and also mention that the rules of procedure of the National Parliament (Law No 15/2009 of 11 November) do not contain any rule dealing with the laws constitutional order, is the point of situation that we need 2. CANOTILHO, José joaquim Gomes, Constitutional to think and listen to in the future cited by (Corte Real AG & Tilman CB, 2023).

CONCLUSIONS

Considering that a society is not static and there are always opportunities for change in its political and soci- 4. ocultural realities that the constitution may suffer at certain times. Therefore, it is important that there are specific rules for revising the constitution. Thus, we can say that the constitutional revision is attributed to the virtual- 5. ity of preserving the re-confronting the Constitution, ensuring its modernity and vivacity, by adapting it to the requirements imposed by the specificity of Timor-Leste 6. society that exists in normal practice, and thus, we can rethink what important to correct the best possible guid- 7. ance of the National Parliament of Timor-Leste. On the other hand, the constitutional revision must respect the limits necessary for compliance with a process previously ordered in the constitutional text, and that is a task of 8. the power of revision which belongs exclusively to the National Parliament, provided for in paragraph. 1 of art. 9. 154° of the CRDTL. However, at the level of material limits of constitutional review, it shows us that this act 10. OLIVEIRA, Bárbara Nazareth and GOMES, Carla must respect the constitutional and fundamental principles that are listed in the CRDTL of Article 156. It should be noted that, Timor-Leste does not intend with this work to solve what is put, but rather this and apento 11. VASCONCELOS, Pedro Carlos Bacelar, Annotated make another contribution to the discussion of this which is one of the great issues of contemporary constitutionalism, and for spectative t for the future , will be considered by the State of Timor-Leste and legal starting point is important to have changes in the situation need cited 12. OLIVEIRA, Joana Figueiredo Góis Cosme, The by (Corte Real AG & Tilman CB, 2023).

REFERENCES

1. CANOTILHO, José joaquim Gomes, Constitutional 13. The Strengthening of local powers in the RDTL (A Law and Theory of the Constitution, 50 Edition, Almedina Editor, Coimbra, 1991.

- Law and Theory of the Constitution, 30 Edition, Almedina Editor, Coimbra, 1998.
- 3. CANOTILHO, José joaquim Gomes, Constitutional Law and Theory of the Constitution, 70 Edition, Almedina Editor, Coimbra, 2003.
- CANOTILHO, José joaquim Gomes and VITAL, Moreira, constitution of the Portuguese Republic Annotated, Volume I (art. 1° to 107°) Coimbra Editora, [s.1.], 2014.
- CUNHA, Paulo Fereira, Constitutional Law Gera 20 Edição Augmented, Revista e Updated, Quid Juris, Sociedade Editor, [s.1.], 2013.
- GOUVEIA, Jorge Bacelar, Constitutional Law of Timor-Leste, IDILP Editor, Lisbon and Dili, 2012.
- MORAIS, Carlos Blanco, Constitutional Justice, Tomo II The Constitutional Litigation Portuguese Between the Mixed Model and the Temptation of the Resubmission System, Coimbra Editora, [s.1.], 2005.
- MIRANDA, Jorge, Manual of Constitutional Law, Tomo IV,3 the Edition, Coimbra Editora, 2000.
- MIRANDA, Jorge, Manual of Constitutional Law, Tomo I, 4edition, Coimbra Editora, 1991.
- de Marcelino et all, The Fundamental Rights in East Timor Theory and Practice. 1Edition, Dili and Coimbra, 2015.
- Constitution of the Democratic Republic of East Timor, Human Rights of Interdiciplinar Research, Law School of the University of Minho, Campus de Gualtar Braga Editores, Dili, 2011.
- Constitutional Revision and the protection of Fundamental Principles, considerations on the material limits of the power of review, Lisboa, 2022.
- interpretation of the Constitution new of RDTL/2002. Updaded 2022.

© 2023 Alexandre Gentil Corte-Real de Araújo. This article is distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License